Institutional strategies for mobilization of funds and the optimal utilization of resources

The availability of fund is essential for any organization, society, family or co - operatives Society but the movability of fund is even more important. If the movability is in the right direction, coordinated then the level of progress is high otherwise it becomes ineffective even though the fund is available. Therefore the movability of fund is important for the development of organization.

The Dean and the committees of the college monitor the use of resources received from by way of Collection of Fees and Revenue from the Hospital and Non-Government funds. The allocated funds are utilized to purchase Hospital equipment's, organize seminars, workshops and conferences etc. The administration and finance committee and the management board, review the use of resources including audit, budgets and accounts. They make recommendation for better handling of resources and effective mobilization of available funds.

For the smooth working of our college various committees have been constituted, each committee study its own field and analysis to requirements and then forwards it to analysis committee with expected expenditure and planning. Planning and analysis committee look over these requirements and then by adding the future aspects and planning, forward it to finance committee for opinion. Finance committee go through the details and analysis and then act accordingly for the betterment of students, professors, and non - teaching staff. After that the report is finally handed to management committee.

No institution is recognized by its infrastructure but by the success of students studying in it. Therefore certain portion of the income is invested on purchase of books and apparatus, sports, youth festival and some other programs. For the smooth running of the institution professors and employers are appointed and paid salary and proper increment.

A healthy mind resides in a healthy body, for this various programs like sports, yoga, personality development and other activities are organized and the finance committee spent on this. In this way students proceeds towards their bright future by gaining knowledge and their overall development.

For the effecting teaching and learning it is very important that the environment and campus of the institution should be clean and attractive. The entire college staff and students are always ready for it. Proper gardening facility is available with Green Gym.

There is always a need for maintaining and upgrading the facilities provided by the college from time to time. In addition improvement in infrastructure is also needed. Electricity, Drinking water, Internet facility is available to staff and student as well.

To upgrade the students, professors and employees various programs such as guest lectures, seminars, discussions are organized. Not only this, they are encouraged to participate in different institution, research work.

Certain portion of income is kept for miscellaneous expenses and for emergency situation. This fund is beneficial at the time of need and the development of the college is never hindered. At the same time the allotted fund can be interchanged in case of very important condition. In this way through effective financial management the college is attaining new heights and achieving its goal. The co - operation from state government and central government is appreciated by the institution.
